

Megan Martino is the Program Coordinator for the Women's Power Gap at the Eos Foundation. Megan joined the foundation in the fall of 2022. She provides support in research, data collection, and program management for Eos.

Megan graduated from Skidmore College with a B.A. in Political Science and Environmental Studies. Her studies and volunteer work centered around social justice, food systems, and political activism. Outside of Eos, you will find her traveling, walking her dogs, or spending time with family and friends.